

TO WHOMSOEVER IT MAY CONCERN

As the Founder President of the Global Trade and Technology Council, India (GTTCI), I am delighted to write this letter of recommendation for Kartik Lakhota, an outstanding Grade XII student from Step by Step School, Noida.

GTTCI is an Apex Chamber of Trade and Technology Industry in India with members across the globe. Founded to promote bilateral trade between India and countries worldwide, GTTCI focuses on establishing lasting, mutually beneficial relationships. The council excels in elevating local Indian products to a global stage while facilitating the introduction of international products in India. More than just a typical chamber of commerce, GTTCI fosters innovative private sector collaborations that enhance the business environment, professional development, and technical innovation on both national and global levels.

During his two-year internship with us in 2023 and 2024, Kartik immersed himself in the dynamic landscape of global trade, actively participating in Trade and Investment summits that connected Indian trade organizations with representatives from countries such as Guyana, Mongolia and Myanmar. These summits were crucial for entrepreneurs seeking international opportunities in sectors like mining, tourism, energy, manufacturing, and agriculture. Kartik actively engaged with stakeholders, showcasing an impressive grasp of the dynamics of international trade.

In addition, Kartik conducted comprehensive research to assess global trade practices and was instrumental in organizing UN International Day events at various embassies, including those of Mongolia and Myanmar. His involvement in high-profile events such as UN World Environment Day, UN Peacekeeper's Day, and International MSME Day showcased his exceptional organizational skills and attention to detail, ensuring flawless execution.

A highlight of Kartik's journey with us was his initiative in spearheading an independent project focused on analysing the growth of the Micro, Small, and Medium Enterprises (MSME) sector in India. Understanding the pivotal role MSMEs play in the economy, he approached this project with passion and intellectual curiosity. His extensive research covered the registration process, associated benefits, available government schemes, and the sector's contributions to GDP and employment. He explored the role in advancing UN Sustainable Development Goals and the challenges faced by entrepreneurs within the MSME landscape.

Kartik has demonstrated exceptional dedication and aptitude throughout his internship at GTTCI. I am confident that the skills and experiences he has gained will greatly benefit him in his future pursuits. I sincerely wish him continued success as he begins the next chapter of his journey.
